Dear Friends of Portland Classic Guitar:

We hope this letter finds you well. We are writing to let you know about a very special benefit concert for Portland Classic Guitar, scheduled for June 10 at Marylhurst University. This not-to-be-missed event will feature an all-star lineup that includes the Oregon Guitar Quartet, Scott Kritzer, Peter Zisa, and PCG proprietor William Jenks.

Why a benefit concert, you ask? As you know, this is a time of serious economic challenge for most of us. And it has been a particularly difficult period for the arts. Maintaining a series as consistently ambitious, creative, and world class as ours is not always easy. We remain committed to the mission, because we believe in it strongly—the arts, after all, provide great solace and uplift in difficult times such as these. But we also need your help, and attending this unique benefit performance would be a wonderful way to show your support for what we are doing. Not only would you be helping to keep this important series alive financially—thereby maintaining Portland's reputation as a major outpost for the best in classical guitar music—but you would also be enjoying a rare opportunity to hear some of the Pacific Northwest's premiere classical guitarists together in a single concert.

It is sure to be a fantastic night of music—just consider the lineup. The much-loved Oregon Guitar Quartet excels at an impressive repertoire covering many centuries of musical history, and dozens of different genres of music. Scott Kritzer has been hailed as an “intelligent,” “self-assured,” and musically sensitive guitarist by no less than the New York Times. Peter Zisa has been an in-demand performer up and down the west coast, appearing in a multitude of festivals and competitions. And of course William Jenks is founder of both Portland Classic Guitar and the series that bears its name. All are consummate artists at the top of their profession.

Of course, an even more effective way to help the series would be to become a season subscriber now. In fact, until June 10, subscriptions to next year's season are available for the low price of $250 (after June 10, that price will increase to $300). The stellar artists to be featured in the benefit concert provide a preview of the consistently excellent music you can expect from the Portland Classic Guitar series over the next year. Those of you who have been to our concerts in the past know that we have brought you such internationally renowned guitarists as Angel Romero, John Williams, and Eliot Fisk. For our next season we will maintain that high standard, presenting superstars like Ana Vidovic, Scott Tennant, and many others.

The PCG series continues to raise the cultural profile of Portland, putting it on par with cities like New York and London. Please consider becoming part of the excitement now by purchasing your tickets for our wonderful benefit concert, and by subscribing to next year's season. Call PCG proprietor William Jenks today at 503-654-0082.

Thank you for reading, and thank you for your continued support!
